Federal FM Curriculum

Strong skills for sound decisions

Graduate School USA (GSUSA) offers courses that respond to the need for government departments and agencies to balance diminishing resources while maintaining and expanding existing programs. As you acquire the skills you need to achieve that balance, you will master the tools and techniques of accounting, budgeting, appropriations law, and financial management.

You will become familiar with terminology and principles, as well as the laws, regulations, standards, policies, and procedures that underpin federal financial management. Our courses emphasize practical application, and our instructors bring real-world experience to the classroom.

GSUSA's curriculum designers can also work with customers to tailor courses that meet the specific training needs of federal agencies and their employees.

Relevant Training Supporting Federal Workforce Development

Our federal financial management courses are designed to meet the workforce development and continuing education needs of federal government agencies, employees, and contractors. Where appropriate, courses are developed and updated to provide students with the competencies identified by government organizations and professional associations, such as the CFO Council, the Association of Government Accountants (AGA), and the American Society of Military Comptrollers (ASMC).

Each of these courses is available for individual registration or for on-site delivery domestically and world-wide. We can help you meet your certification requirements cost-effectively and conveniently.

DoD has aligned some of our courses that are no longer active. Past completion of one or more of these now inactive courses may also help you meet certification requirements.
