Introduction

Stockport Council is committed to providing a high standard of service to all its customers. As part of our continuing effort to improve the services we provide, we rely on customer feedback when we ‘get it right’ so that this standard can be maintained; we welcome suggestions from customers on how we can improve our services; we need to know when a customer is not happy with the service they have received.

1. Scope and purpose of the Policy

1.1 The purpose of this policy is to:

- define a formal complaint;
- clarify how a complaint can be made;
- explain the level of service the customer can expect once a complaint is raised;
- advise how non-Corporate Complaints are dealt with;
- set out how the Council monitors complaints, and how this information is used to improve services;
- advise staff members on how to deal with complaints.

1.2 For the purpose of this policy, Stockport Council defines a formal complaint as:

“An expression of dissatisfaction about the Council’s action, lack of action or standard of service, which the customer wishes to be treated as a complaint.”

1.3 A complaint or a service request?

It is important that we engage with the complainant to determine whether their dissatisfaction about a particular service is a complaint or a service request. For many of our services (for example, reporting faulty street lamps or missed bin collections) we rely partly on customers to tell us when something is wrong. These initial ‘requests for service’ will not normally be treated as complaints, as we will aim to resolve the matter.
If the matter is not resolved to the customer’s satisfaction and the customer wishes to progress the matter, this will be classified as a ‘complaint.’

A complaint may be about where we have not provided a service to the standard and quality expected by a customer. This would include:

- a lack of response;
- general quality of service provided;
- delays in dealing with matters;
- on-going or persistent service problems;
- poor customer care, behaviour or attitude of staff members;
- where the customer has suffered additional costs; or
- inconvenience due to a mistake or failure to act by the Council.

1.4 Who can complain?

Any member of the public or their representative may make a complaint.

A complaint can be made in the following ways:

- completing the online complaints form;
- stop by one of our Local Centres;
- complete the form in our ‘Compliments and Complaints leaflet’, which is also available on the Council internet webpage: www.stockport.gov.uk; or
- write to us at the following Freepost address:

Stockport
SK1 3YQ

1.5 Confidentiality

All complaints received will be dealt with confidentially and in accordance with the requirements of the Data Protection Act 1998.
1.6 Anonymous complaints

Anonymous complaints are unlikely to be effectively dealt with, as the Council needs to correspond with and, in some cases, meet with the complainant in order to address their concerns. However, these complaints will still be recorded and investigated by the relevant services involved in order to identify possible areas for service improvement.

1.7 Service standard

The Council aims to resolve issues raised in a complaint as quickly and efficiently as possible. Each complaint will be acknowledged within 5 working days. The Council will aim to provide a full response to the complaint within 20 working days. If this is not possible, the customer will be kept informed of progress and how long the investigation will take to conclude.

1.8 Assistance in making complaints

The Council recognises that a customer may need support to make their complaint or someone to act on their behalf. The Council will ensure it addresses any additional requirements e.g. Braille, large print copies, minicom facilities, physical access to buildings and an interpretation service if appropriate. The Council will undertake a home visit where it might be easier for a customer to discuss their concerns in person. Where a home visit is made, a risk assessment must be undertaken in advance to assure the safety of the investigating officer.

The Council may also refer customers to:

- their local councillor;
- their MP;
- a solicitor; or
- the Citizens Advice Bureau.
1.9 When can a customer make a complaint?

A customer should make a complaint within 12 months of when they first became aware of the matter they are complaining about. The Council may not be able to investigate if the customer tells us about a particular matter at a later date. However, there may be instances where exceptions may need to be made and these should be considered by the relevant Head of Service.

2. Corporate Complaints Process

2.1 The Council has a two-stage complaints process:

Stage 1 – investigation by the service

Each service within the Council should identify a suitably qualified officer who would be responsible for investigating and responding to complaints. As a minimum, the investigating officer should follow the guidance in relation to good practice when a complaint is investigated (please refer to section 4.0 and Appendix A).

Once a complaint is received, it is recorded on the complaints database. The appropriate investigating officer should keep the customer updated throughout the investigation process. A customer can expect a full response to their complaint within 20 working days. If this is not possible, the customer should be kept informed of progress and how long the investigation will take to conclude.

The complainant should receive a full and thorough response to their complaint in writing. Any further actions or lessons learnt should be followed through and monitored as part of a Directorate’s performance management arrangements. In the response letter the complainant should be made aware that they can escalate their complaint to the next stage of the complaints process if they remain dissatisfied.
Stage 2 – independent investigation carried out on behalf of the Chief Executive

At this stage, the Corporate Complaints Manager, who is nominated by the Council and is independent of the service concerned, will deal with the complaint. The Officer will record details of the complaint on the complaints database. The customer will be contacted to identify and agree the issues they would like to be investigated.

The investigation of the complaint can involve a number of methods. Including:

- interviewing relevant members of staff and any others directly involved;
- reviewing relevant documents, policies and procedures;
- carrying out site visits; and
- seeking legal advice.

The Officer will aim to provide the customer with a response by 20 working days. However, complaints at this stage often take longer to investigate and if the response time cannot be met, the customer will be told how long the investigation will take to conclude.

The customer will receive a decision letter, which will advise them whether or not their complaint has been upheld and any action taken in respect of each issue they raised in their complaint. The letter will advise customers that they have the right to contact the Local Government Ombudsman, should they remain dissatisfied with the Council’s overall handling of their complaint.

2.2 Complaints dealt with under other procedures

Some complaints are dealt with through separate procedures within the Council, which are laid down by statute. The Council may also receive complaints which it cannot deal with. When such a complaint is received, the customer will be informed of the relevant complaints procedure this will be addressed under, or if it needs to be redirected to a different service or outside body. Below is a list of other Council complaints procedures:
2.3 Adult Social Care complaints

The Services to People Directorate deals with complaints about adult social care. Complaints are dealt with under a single complaints stage.

2.4 Children’s Social Care complaints

The Services to People Directorate also deals with children’s social care. Complaints are dealt with under a three-stage statutory process.

2.5 Complaints about schools

Each school operates under a system of local management and has its own complaints procedure. Complaints should be directed to head teachers, staff or governors.

2.6 Staff & HR

Where a customer raises a complaint about a member of staff, or where staff members raise complaints about HR issues e.g. recruitment, harassment etc, these should be referred to the appropriate line manager/Human Resources and dealt with under the relevant policy.

2.7 Complaints about Members

Stockport Council expects all Members to meet the high ethical standards set out in our Code of Conduct. The Code of Conduct is available online at: www.stockport.gov.uk and can also be viewed at any of our Stockport Direct Local Centres. The responsibility for investigating allegations that Members’ behaviour may have fallen short of the required standards rests with the Stockport Standards Committee. More information about the Standards Committee is available on our website.

If a customer thinks a Member has broken the Council’s Code of Conduct, the customer can report them to the Standards Committee by contacting the Monitoring Officer:

The Monitoring Officer
Stopford House
Stockport
SK1 3XE

Email: monitoring.officer@stockport.gov.uk

2.8 Member/MP Enquiries

Members/MPs may request information or make a complaint on behalf of a customer. Where it is not clear whether a formal complaint is being made, the Member/MP should be contacted to ascertain this.

If a Member/MP raises a formal complaint, it should be dealt with under the appropriate complaints process within the normal timescale (20 working days for Corporate Complaints) and recorded on the complaints database.

If a Member/MP raises an ‘enquiry’, the timescale for response is 10 working days and the case should be recorded on the complaints database.

3. Roles and Responsibilities

Each Directorate within the Council has a Complaints Officer who is responsible for ensuring that there are arrangements in place for:

- recording complaints on a computer database;
- reporting complaints data at Directorate and Corporate level;
- advising on complaints procedures;
- keeping records of the number and nature of complaints;
• drawing up a ‘lesson learnt’ action plan after a complaint has been dealt with; and
• providing feedback to the service complained about.

3.1 Equality & Diversity

The Council is committed to giving an equal service to all members of our community. We treat all customers with respect and dignity irrespective of their colour, race, nationality, ethnic group, age, marital status, disability, religious belief, sexuality, gender identity, or socio-economic status. English is the principal language we use, however, we will provide information in other formats and languages on request.

Please note that a BSL video covering this Policy is also available on the Council’s website.

3.2 Freedom of Information (FOI) requests

The Council complies with the Data Protection Act 1998 (DPA), Freedom of Information Act 2000 (FOIA) and other information legislation. It should be noted that:

• any person or organisation is allowed to make a request for official information held by the Council;
• the request must be a request for recorded information; and
• information can be recorded in any form, e.g. emails, audio recordings, paper information etc.

Requests for information under the DPA or FOIA should be made by contacting the following Officer:

Freedom of Information & Data Protection Officer
Corporate Information Services

Stockport
SK1 3XE

Email: foi.officer@stockport.gov.uk
3.3 Complaints documentation retention policy

It is the Council’s policy to retain complaints documentation for up to 3 years only from the date of the complaint being closed.

4. Good Practice

4.1 How to handle Corporate Complaints

All staff members who deal with complaints are encouraged to undertake complaints handling training. This ensures that they have the necessary skills to investigate complaints and helps to provide a consistent standard of service to complainants.

4.2 Good customer service

Good communication and managing customer expectations are key aspects to good customer service. When dealing with complaints we advise customers how their complaints will be handled and the stages involved in the complaints process. We aim to be polite, courteous and get in touch with the customer if we are unsure of the issues they would like investigated. We should keep customers updated regarding the progress of the investigation and explain how long the complaint will take to resolve if there are delays in the process.

4.3 Complaints data

Complaints data should be analysed on a quarterly basis and included in corporate performance reports. Trends identified will be shared with the relevant service concerned to ensure lessons are learnt and service improvements are planned.

4.4 Complaints about our Partners

Complaints about our partners made directly to the Council will be passed to the relevant organisation to deal with via their own complaints policies. However, if the complaints relate to a service provided by a partner on the Council’s behalf, these will be dealt with under the terms of this policy. When such complaints are received, we will work with the relevant parties to ensure the complaint is dealt with expeditiously, which may involve a joint response being provided to the customer.

4.5 Partners who deliver services on behalf of the Council:

Carillion

Carillion deliver the property services and ensure that the Council’s land and property assets are used efficiently and contribute effectively to transform public services and regenerate the borough (www.carillionplc.com)

Pure Innovations

Pure Innovations offers a range of high quality services to combat social exclusion and encourage diverse communities (www.pureinnovations.co.uk).

Solutions SK

Solutions SK is a company wholly owned by Stockport Council. It provides a range of services including transportation services, highways, street lighting, grounds maintenance, street cleansing, security services and venue catering. Complaints are dealt with under the Corporate Complaints procedure (www.solutionssk.co.uk).

Individual Solutions SK

Individual Solutions SK is a company wholly owned by Stockport Council. It provides a wide range of social care services to residents of the borough, public sector organisations and private customers (www.individualsolutionssk.co.uk).

Stockport Homes

Stockport Homes is a limited company that exists to manage the housing stock owned by the Council. Stockport Homes has its own three stage complaints procedure in place (www.stockporthomes.org).

Life leisure

Life Leisure is focussed on promoting its facilities and sport and leisure to families and individuals of all ages and backgrounds (www.lifeleisure.net).

4.6 Learning from complaints

When we provide our decision to the customer, our letter should clearly identify the issues investigated along with the outcome in respect of each issue. We aim to ensure that our letters are clear, succinct and avoid jargon or technical language where appropriate. We apologise where mistakes have been made and inform the customer of the remedial action we have taken to try to ensure that mistakes are not repeated.

The Council recognises that learning from complaints is a powerful way of helping to develop and improve the services we provide our customers and to increase trust among the people who use our services. We have systems to:

- record, analyse and report on the outcomes of complaints and remedies; and
- apply the information to improve customer service.

4.7 Remedies

If something has gone wrong and the customer has suffered as a result, the Council needs to consider the action to be taken. The general principle the Local Government Ombudsman promotes is that the customer should, so far as possible, be put in the position he or she would have been in, had things not gone wrong. The investigation should establish with the customer what they consider to be a reasonable and fair outcome of the complaint.
The following is a list of possible remedies which could be considered when responding to a complaint. The remedy may be just one, or a combination of these actions. The remedy chosen needs to be proportionate and appropriate to the failure in service, and take into account what people are looking for when they complain. The following actions should be considered when addressing a complaint:

- offering a suitably worded apology (an apology is not an acceptance of liability under section 2 of the Compensation Act 2006);
- an explanation of what took place;
- provide the service requested by the customer (immediately, if appropriate);
- change procedures to prevent future difficulties of a similar kind, either for the customer or others; or
- financial compensation may be appropriate if, for example:
  - the Council has taken the appropriate action but has delayed in doing so and the delay has caused injustice to the customer;
  - there is no practical action which would provide a full and appropriate remedy; or
  - the complainant has incurred financial loss or has suffered stress and anxiety.

Please also refer to ‘Guidance Notes for the Investigating Officer’ under Appendix A.
APPENDIX A

GUIDANCE NOTES FOR THE INVESTIGATING OFFICER

Stage 1 Complaints

A Stage 1 complaint should be dealt with by an appropriate officer skilled with dealing with complaints within the service area concerned.

If you feel that the investigation of a complaint cannot or should not be progressed, please seek advice from your Directorate Complaints Officer and/or Legal Services before notifying the complainant.

Upon receipt of a letter of complaint you have 20 working days in which to complete your investigation and respond to the complainant.

Your Directorate’s Complaints Officer will have inputted as much information as possible on the complaints database regarding the complaint. Any new information will also need to be inputted onto the database.

Your letter of response should advise whether or not the complaint has been upheld and it should address every question or query the complainant has raised. It should also include details of the next stage of the complaint’s procedure should they remain unhappy with the response.

Ensure that a copy of your response is retained on file and inputted on the complaints database system. Your Directorate Complaints Officer should be able to assist you with this.

If the information you receive is from a Councillor or MP, your response should be sent directly to them rather than the person who originally made the complaint. Please be mindful that any correspondence you share with the Councillor or MP, can be passed directly by them to the complainant.
Any complaints received regarding a member of staff should NOT be dealt with by the member of staff concerned. If you receive information detailing a complaint against you or a colleague, you should either return it to your Directorate’s Complaints Officer for redirection or forward it to the appropriate line manager. They will deal with this confidentially according to appropriate guidelines (seeking advice from HR where necessary).

Meeting with Complainants

If you feel the best way to deal with a complaint is to meet with the complainant or visit the complainant in their home or other appropriate place, the Directorate Complaints Officer is available to accompany you if required. Home visits should not be carried out alone.

Following a meeting with a complainant, details of the issues discussed or details of any decisions made should be confirmed in writing to them. If possible, you should try to resolve the complaint at such a meeting.

If a Complaint is becoming ‘Out of Time’

If you are unable to respond to the complaint within the given timescale, please ensure that you inform the complainant of the new date and reason for the delay.

Your response should then be sent as soon as possible within the new timescale. If further problems arise delaying the response, please seek assistance from your Directorate’s Complaints Officer to ensure the investigation is concluded expediently.

Request for Further Information

If the complainant remains unhappy with the response they receive they may write to you requesting further information. This should not, in itself, be treated as a Stage 2 complaint but can be simply replied to with the information they have requested.

Your Directorate’s Complaints Officer should be notified if an additional letter is received so that this information can be inputted onto the complaints database. You should aim to provide a response as soon as possible.

Good Investigative Practice When Dealing with a Stage 1 Complaints

- Be aware of any previous complaints from the person who is complaining.
- Clarify the complaint.
- Be aware of relevant legal, policy and administrative background to the complaint.
- Ensure that the Corporate Complaints process is the most appropriate way of handling the complaint. It may be more appropriate for the complainant to appeal to a tribunal or take legal action, for example. If an alternative procedure is deemed appropriate the complainant should be notified immediately.
- If the complaint can be resolved immediately then further investigation is unnecessary.
- If the complaint relates to proposed action by the Council, consider whether the action should be postponed until the complaint has been investigated.
- Be familiar with all relevant documents.
- Arrange meetings/interviews/telephone conversations with all relevant officers and the complainant if necessary.
- All persons to be interviewed can be accompanied by a friend or Union Representative if required.
- Separate ‘hear say’ from fact.
- Conflicting evidence should be backed up with corroborative evidence.
- Formal notes should be made during an interview and summarised at the end. Opportunity for any additional information to be included must be given.
- Make an informed and fair decision as to whether the complaint is justified.
• Ensure that there is a valid and clear reason for finding a complaint to be justified or unjustified.
• Ensure the complainant is kept informed of progress.

Guidance for what needs to be addressed in a response letter:

Where a complaint is upheld

• An apology for the lack of service, error etc.
• Specific statement to the effect that the comment or complaint has been found to be justified e.g. ‘following my investigation of your complaint about ------I am writing to inform you that your complaint has been upheld’.
• Explanation of what went wrong, why, how and when.
• What has been put in place to ensure that the same situation does not occur in future e.g. any changes to policies or procedures made as a result of the complaint.
• Do not just respond to the complaint; explain how the Council is going to rectify the situation complained about.
• Identify the complaint as being the fault of the Council as a whole rather than an individual or a specific section.
• The response should be made in letter format and not in the style of a formal report.
• Response should advise the right to escalate complaint to Stage 2.

Where a complaint is partially upheld

• Ensure that it is clear in your response which part of the complaint has been found to be justified and why.
• Include information relating to what action will be taken to deal with the part of the complaint found to be justified.
• Response should advise the right to escalate complaint to Stage 2.

Where a complaint is not upheld

• The decision letter should convey an apology for the customer feeling the way they do. Remember that the complainant will have a genuine sense of grievance so care should be taken not to increase that sense of grievance where their complaint has been found to be unjustified.

- Specific statement to the effect that the complaint is not upheld e.g. ‘following my investigation of your complaint about -------I am writing to inform you that I have not upheld your complaint’.
- Go through each relevant issue raised and explain why this cannot be justified as bad practice/incorrect procedure etc. A full and sympathetic explanation should be given.
- Close with advice on what to do if they are unhappy with your response (escalating their complaint to Stage 2).

Where a complaint is withdrawn

- When a complainant contacts you to withdraw their complaint, you should confirm this to them in writing, or keep a record of any telephone discussions or meetings undertaken.
- Response should still advise the right to escalate complaint to Stage 2.

Where a complaint is settled

- If you have dealt with a complaint to the complainant’s satisfaction (prior to carrying out a detailed investigation), you should write to them to confirm the terms of the settlement, i.e. offering compensation, detailing changes to policies and procedures etc. However, you should still provide the contact details for the Improvement & Performance Officer (Complaints), who is responsible for investigating complaints at Stage 2 of the Corporate Complaints process.

Stage 2 Complaints

If the complainant disagrees with the outcome of your investigation, they can decide to request a further investigation at Stage 2 of the complaints procedure. If they contact you directly, inform them that you will liaise with the Corporate Complaints Manager to ensure the complaint is investigated further.
If it is decided that a Stage 2 investigation will take place, the information and relevant files should be forwarded to the Corporate Complaints Manager, or you should ensure that all relevant documents are scanned onto the complaints database.

The Stage 2 investigation will broadly follow the same good practice guidance undertaken by officers’ investigating complaints at Stage 1. At Stage 2, it is important to understand the scope of the complaint as the issues are often more complex than at Stage 1.
